

'RECORD REVIEWS' REVIEW

To The Editor:

A basic prerequisite for being a critic of anything is that one must be knowledgeable in that field in which he expounds his criticisms.

Rich Boziwick may be a bit of a self-styled music critic, but a student of radio he is not.

Rich's implied blanket Label of AM radio as "teeny-bopperishitty" (Record Reviews - Feb. 14th) displays an ignorance that probably results from too restricted listening habits. A man who lives in a closet should not pass judgement on the outside world. AM stations are extremely diverse in musical format. Blanket condemnations of them do the AM half of the radio industry a disservice.

Stick to records, Rich, and leave naive AM-FM prejudices out of the Integrator.
